2012 UNITED NATIONS GRANT CLAIM

Dear [REDACTED]

This is to confirm that you have been selected by the 2012 United Nations Grant as one of the final recipients of cash Grant of GBP £4,000,000 (Four Million British Pounds Sterling) for your own personal, educational, and business development.

In order to receive the grant money, you would be required to open an International bank account with our nominated bank in the United Kingdom. The main reason why you would require an International bank account in the UK is because of the strict financial regulations within the EU and as your grant is above the set limit by the ECB, you would need an International bank account in the UK to receive the money. Thereafter, you can transfer the money from the International account in the UK to any account of your choice.

The United Nations nominated bankers are National Westminster Bank (United Kingdom). We have instructed/appointed one of the branch managers to aid the opening of your account and transferring your grant. Contact the manager with the below email quoting A398UN.

Bank Name: National Westminster Bank (NATWEST)

Manager Name: Elizabeth J Harrison

Email: manager@natsbnkplc.co.uk

To avoid issues relating to other people coming forward to claim your grant, we advised that you do not inform anyone include close friends and family members until you receive your grant money. If anyone comes forward to lay a second claim, the United Nations Grant will regard this as 'Double Claim' and your grant would be cancelled. You have 10 working day from today to claim your money after which your grant will be forfeited.

Note: You should always check your bulk or spam folders for emails because sometimes when we send emails, it might go to your bulk or spam folders in your email. So in order for you to get all our emails, you should always check your bulk or spam folders in your email.

Yours Sincerely,
Chloe Willson-Thomas
